

Health Sciences Centre
FOUNDATION

Jackie Wild

Jackie Wild is a seasoned communications and marketing professional with over a decade of experience managing successful community-focused initiatives within the public, private and non-profit sectors. As a racialized woman in business, she understands the critical role anti-racism advocacy plays in advancing equitable outcomes for her kababayan (fellow country people) and the broader business community.

In 2022, Jackie launched Tito Boy Restaurant, Winnipeg's first south-end Philippine eatery offering traditional and fusion culinary creations. The business, named after her father Agustin "Tito Boy" Doming, represents the intersectionality of different generations and what it means to be a Philippine-Canadian in the modern era.

A champion of community building, Jackie serves as president of the Manitoba Filipino Business Council, leading their vision to serve as the prime community resource hub for Philippine business people and professionals. Jackie also volunteers as board secretary with the Manitoba Museum, small business advisory council co-chair with The Winnipeg Chamber, and board member with the Health Sciences Centre Foundation.

In 2020, Jackie was named one of CBC Manitoba's Future 40 recipients and featured in the Filipino Journal's 20 Filipinos to Watch list.